Please always leave a name and a phone number in your message as we don't always have your personal information with us. We are very good about returning phone calls, but please remember that during hunting season we are in very remote areas and may only be able to retrieve our messages every couple of days as many of the areas we hunt still lack cell phone service. Please call the office in hunting season first!

The following is information we hope you find useful when preparing for your hunt:

nights lodging, and all meals. Extra days can be added at the front end of the bow hunt for an additional fee. Normal rifle/muzzleloader hunt packages are 5 days guided hunting (1x1 or 2x1), 6 nights lodging, and all meals. Extra days are NOT a possibility on muzzleloader or rifle hunt.

Unit 34/30 early season private ranch hunts in September through October, will hunt from our main base camp in unit 34. This is a full service tent camp with 12x14 wall tents, huge dining tent, shower, and about everything you could hope for in a hunting camp.

It's closest to the main areas of the ranch that we hunt in the early season.

Late season hunts (November 1 –January 31) in unit 34/30 will be from our cabin on the ranch. This cabin has twin bunk beds, kitchen, living room and bathroom. It does have both electricity and running water, but no cell phone service. It does have a landline phone service (phone service at the cabin is truly the end of the line for phone service in the area, my closest neighbor is 7 miles, so phone service at the ranch can be a little spotty). We do have access to free WIFI at the little store in the town of Pinon about 25 minutes from camp.

Lodging for all unit 36 private ranch hunts is a small cabin on the ranch. There are twin bunks, a kitchen, bathroom and living room. This cabin is off the grid, meaning that it has solar power with a generator backup. There is running water but no cell phone service from the cabin. If you have Verizon you will have some service on high spots on the ranch. ATT and all other service you will have to travel 1 hour for service. Plan to bring a burner/track Verizon phone or use the guide's phone.

Chama, NM hunts lodging will be determined seasonally. Please call for clarification.

Not Included in Package Price: Travel to/from hunt camp. New Mexico license fees, habitat and HMAV stamps and NM sales tax. Tips for guide and cooks and camp helper, meat processing, meat storage (area meat lockers charge $20-30/day for storage) or shipping cape or meat. Taxidermy or alcohol are not included. Bedding is not provided at either ranch location. Towels are provided in 34 cabin, but not at 36 ranch.

We will help you handle your trophy in the field and can help you get in touch with local meat processors/taxidermy shops as well as transport meat to closest butcher for you.

The closest liquor store to camp could be 2+ hours for anything other than basic whiskey and beer. You can get beer about 45 min from most camps, so please plan ahead if you desire alcoholic beverages.

Air Travel:

In Unit 34 you will want to fly into El Paso, TX (3 hours) or possibly Albuquerque (5 hours, but a greater selection of flight times). Unit 36 should look at El Paso, TX (3 hours) or Albuquerque, NM (4 hours, but a greater selection of flight times). Chama, Albuquerque, NM is 3 hours away, Durango, CO is 2 hours away. Albuquerque would have a much greater selection of flight times. Talk with us about your best choice before you book your flight if you have questions.

Gratuity:

It is customary to tip your guides based on your overall experience. For the cooks and camp-helper/packer, $75 -$100 per week per person is common. For guides 10-15% of trip cost per person is the most is customary, but again, please base your tip on your experience. The cost of scouting is increasing every year, this is where the guides recoup money they spent looking for your dream bull or buck. Gratuity should not reflect number of days in the field or harvest, but rather the experience you enjoyed.

Our Wounded Animal Policy on Private Land Hunts:

A wounded animal is an animal that has been hit by bullet or arrow and a single drop of blood has been found. Should you wound an animal, you and your guide will cease hunting, and will spend the next 24 hours looking for that wounded animal.

If you are unable to find this wounded animal after the 24 hours, you may continue to hunt under certain conditions: you will no longer have the option of harvesting a "meat bull". Instead, you will hunt for mature trophy bull only (a trophy bull as defined by a 330" or better, as judged by your guide). There will be no harvest of any bull smaller than this, even on the last day of the hunt. You already shot and wounded your "meat bull".

If a 2nd animal is wounded, this will be the end of the hunt. You will spend the remainder of your hunt looking for both wounded animals until the end of your hunt, or until you depart. This policy applies to any species animal we are hunting.

Any harvesting of meat bulls or smaller bulls on the last day(s) of the hunt will not be permitted. If you shoot a bull under 330", which guides did not tell you to shoot, the 2nd animal free is $3500.

We have managed these special ranches for over 10 years and hope to keep the 90+% success rates/age class of bull going. We have to limit the animals we kill to keep this unprecedented success rate and quality of animal going.

Once hunters are tagged out:

We strive to limit the pressure we put on our private ranches. Consequently, once hunters have tagged out we will no longer hike, hunt or travel on the ranches. Think of it this way- you wouldn't be very pleased to find out that the week before your hunt, successful hunters spent their remaining time shooting at varmints and scaring off all the big game, would you?

After you tag out, your guide will assist you with trophy prep as well as quartering and prepping your meat for travel home. The guide will then want to help the remaining hunters and guides in camp or in OTHER camps. Similarly, other guides will be wanting to help you on your hunt if they tag out early. Our outstanding success rates are a direct result of our guides being willing to work as a team. We work as a team trying to maximize the opportunity of every hunter.

Cell Phones:

There is NOT ALWAYS CELL PHONE reception in our camps, If you must have cell service during your hunt, talk with us about your location and I can give you a heads up to the service quality/location available. In Unit 34, 36, and 16 hunters will most likely have to drive to a spot to receive cell phone service. Verizon is spotty, ATT cell service is abysmal.

Drinking Water: we will not have bottled water in camps, but we always have clean safe drinking water in camps that you can use to fill your refillable bottle. If you must drink bottled water please bring some to camp. You will want to pack a Camel Back or other drinking bottles to re-fill in camp and bring with you to the field. Sorry if this is a problem for some people, but we just can't keep putting 300+ cases of water bottles in the landfills every year.

After Hours Emergencies:

For emergencies, our best number to call is the office number 505-801-7500. Karin mans the office during the hunting season while Chris is in the field. Should you find yourself lost on your way at night or your family need to get in touch with you, you can call this number and she will do her darndest to get in touch with Chris, your guide or the camp manager.

Should anyone need to reach you in camp, they may call/text Chris at 505-860-3197 (however he does NOT always have service every day). Should they call this number after hours a voice messaging system is in place and we will give you the message when we hear it. Texting is the very best way to reach Chris the fastest. In 2016 we found some new unexpended areas close to camp where we can text most of the time, but only if we are standing in a specific spot.

Camp Locations and Meeting Locations:

We will provide you detailed directions to camp closer to your hunt date. You will not need a 4x4 to access any of our camps.

Unit 34/30 hunters: Most years our camps are located between Weed, NM and Pinon, NM off HWY 24 near the Avis Cemetery. I will provide you with detailed driving directions to the camp, DO NOT USE A GPS to find camps in unit 34/30 - you will be taken terrible routes!! Specific driving directions will be sent in late summer. *DO NOT TAKE 506 TO CAMP IN ROUTE FROM EL PASO for any reason, yes it is the shortest route but it's an adventure you don't want to take!!!

Unit 36 hunters: Unit 36 hunters will almost always meet guides in Ruidoso, NM. Specific instructions will follow closer to hunt date.

Chama, NM hunters: Chama hunters will almost always meet guides in Dulce, NM

Hunting License :

Closer to your hunt date we will email you step-by-step instructions for purchasing your hunting license. We will email your authorization/ranch number at that time.

If you purchased a landowner tag, you will need to convert your authorization/ranch number into a hunting license on the NM Game and Fish website. You will also need to purchase a game hunting license ($65), habitat stamp ($5) and habitat management and access validation ($4)

NM Game and fish will mail you the licenses and carcass/horn tag if done a month in advance. If not done in that time frame, you will need to purchase your license at a physical game and fish office, Walmart, Cabela's or Sportsman's Warehouse in New Mexico.

After your harvest: In the Field: Once you have killed an animal, guides will then help you as little or much as you like in dealing with the downed animal. If we are in an area that we can drive to we'll load it in the truck, or help to pack it out on our backs.

Your hunt is concluded at this point and you will depart camp after your meat and cape are dropped off at the meat processor/taxidermist.

Mandatory Harvest Report after your hunt – the state of NM requires ALL hunters to fill out their mandatory harvest report whether you were successful or not. You will want to log on to your NM Game and Fish account after the hunt to complete this step. If you don't complete this step you will not be eligible for the NM draw next year. You can also call NM Game and Fish at (888) 248-6866 to complete your harvest report over the phone.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call us any time: 505-801-7500 (office) or 505-860-3197 (Chris' cell phone)

HOW TO PREPARE FOR YOUR HUNT:

GET IN SHAPE AND PRACTICE WITH YOUR WEAPON! – You WILL get out of a hunt what you put in to it ahead of time!

You will be hunting at an elevation of at about 6800' or higher. Many of you are coming from 500' or less and you're not used to the thin air like we are. Do what you can to help get your lungs ready! Even just walking for an hour a day will benefit you. Use a backpack with sand or other weight in it when you walk to get ready. If you can ride a bike or stair stepper you're going to be happy you did!

It's your hunt - guides will let you set the pace, but they will push you as they want to see you have a successful hunt. For what you are paying per day, spend some time getting ready! YOU are the one that will pay for it with a sub-par hunt, blistered feet and a crappy time overall if you don't shoot on sticks and get some exercise before you get here. Anything you can do to get ready is going to help you. There is nothing more depressing than seeing that big buck/bull on day 3 and having to run as fast as you can up a steep hill and just not having the energy to do it.

Your Ideal Hunt: Rain is the determining factor to the trophy quality of EVERY hunt we offer in New Mexico. I have killed 290 average elk in a unit that the year before we killed a 340 average. Precipitation levels in the spring (March- June) will dictate the horn growth of the animal we are hunting.

Please be sure to talk with your guide about the quality of animal that you're looking for. There are a great variety of bulls in our area, and if the guide has a general idea of the kind of bull you are looking for he will do his darndest to help you find him. Even if that means holding your bullets for you! If there are bigger bulls around other than what is in front of you, he'll tell you and you will need to make the call. Remember that ultimately you make the call as whether or not you shoot or don't shoot. We want you to harvest the largest animals possible, but every animal you let walk is a risk of not tagging out. Remember that opportunities are not unlimited on fair chase hunts.

We are aggressive hunters. That's why we have killed over 90% harvest and 100% shot for the last 10 years. We like to walk and hike and glass for animals along the way. We are not trying to kill you, we just really want you to harvest as badly as you do! This means if you need a break you're going to have to tell us when YOU need to sit on waterholes and feeding areas to take a break and recharge. It's your hunt, you need to set the pace!

Bow Hunter Information:

Please plan on shooting fixed blade broad heads. In the last 12 years we have recovered one animal shot with expandable blades. Yes, one! If you need help PLEASE call us anytime to talk more about ideas for fixed blades that shoot like expendables. Slicktrick, Exodus and Whack'em are some of the best shooting fixed blades you can buy. We have had BAD luck with the G5's - they are dull.

We also request that hunters DO NOT use single pin adjustable sights. They are very popular in the whitetail world now, however in the world of ELK hunting they will hurt your odds of harvest a great deal. You will NOT have the time to set the yardage on the sight when you are calling in elk since you never know where they are coming from. I like 5-7 pin sites 30-80 yard pins and you will have no reason not to get the shot you want! Just spend a little time shooting instinctively at ranges from 0-30 yds. Spend some time shooting from various positions. Shoot from knees, leaning over, around things, over things, under branches.

Please also shoot a little heavier arrow than you do for whitetail deer, we like a 600g set up for elk. We also ask that hunters learn to shoot with your quivers attached to your bows. We're not sure where guys develop the habit of shooting with quivers off your bows (we think tree stands) but every year we waste an afternoon backtracking for a quiver that got put down, or looking for all the arrows that got knocked off your backpack quiver on the hike into hunting areas. A Primos bow sling will be your best friend on this hunt. I would be sure to pack one!!!

Call us anytime about bow or gear questions, we are ALL bow hunters in camp!

Rifle Hunters: PLEASE learn to shoot standing on sticks. You are going to be standing 99% of the time on shots here. It's not something you should do for the first time once here. Cross canyon or over brush is almost always the way you are going to get a shot. We try for sitting shots 75% of the time, but prone will almost never happen because of the terrain we hunt.

Once you have your rifle ZERO AT 200 YDS start practicing shooting off sticks. Most of the guides like and will carry the BogPod tripod with the red foam grips. Primos also makes a nice trigger stick TRIPOD that is super easy to use and easy to find (be sure to get the Gen 2 so you can shoot sitting with it). Or get some other cheap off brand to practice, as you don't have to bring them with you, guides will carry their own. But please, for the good of your hunt, get ready to use sticks and shoot a bunch before the hunt starts. You'll be glad you did!

You will not need to travel with your sticks, guides will have some with them in the field at all times.

Zero your rifle at 200 yards and be ready for 100-450 yard shots. Most shots will be 100-350 but learn to shoot at 300-400+ and you'll be happy you did! On rifle elk hunts you really need to know how to shoot at 300-450 yards. Most shooting is cross canyon and these yardages are dictated by the area and the terrain we hunt, not by choice!

Unit 36 Private ranch hunters need to be ready for 400-450+ yard shots. This ranch and its incredible hunting will almost 100% of the time get you across the canyon from the animals because the ranch is so thick. You don't HAVE to shoot 400+ but it will benefit you greatly to have confidence in any shot to 450+ yards. Take a shooting class or do what you can to be READY to shoot long. No matter how good of a hunter you are you will not be able to get closer as it's the terrain that makes this happen.

When practicing 300+ shots I never shoot paper, what I like to do when practicing long distances (300+ yards) is to shoot at balloons. It gives instant feedback, and if you're popping a balloon that is the same size as the kill zone on an elk, guess what - you're killing any elk you are shooting at! It build confidence at longer range! Don't discourage yourself shooting and evaluating paper. If you're on at 200 zero, almost every elk gun will only be dropping 15-30" at 450.

Please bring a 300 or better rifle. I know 30.06, 308, 270, 280 will all kill elk, but you will not be taking all the shots you could with these rifles. They don't shoot long well. As a rule they are the guns we leave the greatest number of elk in the woods lost with.

We also sell all the Huskamaw long range gear AND RIFLES! If you want a custom 300win ($4500) let us know and we can get one to you before your hunt all dialed in for our elevation. We can also customize your rifle with a long range scope. We also sell all the Huskamaw ammo and long range shooting supplies.
